Workplace Suicide Prevention

- The mission is to change the culture of workplaces to reduce job strain and negative, fear-based, prejudicial and discriminatory thoughts, behaviors and systems regarding suicide and mental health while at the same time promoting psychologically healthy norms and environments.
- The overarching goals of the best practices are twofold:
 - 1. To engage employer/professional association leadership to address suicide prevention in a comprehensive way.
 - 2. To provide a roadmap to workplace leaders who wish to engage in this culture-change process.

- We seek to achieve our vision by developing a set of guidelines that:
 - 1. Give employers and professional associations an opportunity to pledge to engage in the effort of suicide prevention.
 - 2. Demonstrate an implementation structure for workplace best practice in a comprehensive approach.
 - 3. Provide data and resources to advance the cause of workplace suicide prevention.
 - 4. Bring together diverse stakeholders in a collaborative public-private model.
 - 5. Make recommendations for easily deployed tools, trainings and resources for short-term action inside of long-term system-wide change.
- TAKE the PLEDGE
 - Commit to act now to prevent suicide and take action that will make suicide prevention a health and safety priority at your workplace or professional association.

- Native American Storytelling: Culture is Prevention
 - Tuesday, December 22, 2020 3:00 p.m. ET
 - This session features traditional Native American storytelling, along with time for discussion on what can be learned from the stories, as well as the ways these stories can be incorporated by Native American providers into their work with patients. Traditionally, the storyteller needed to be an excellent psychologist and able to understand peoples' perspectives. A story might be used in treatment to help a patient come to a realization in a culturally informed way.

- National ACT Virtual Meetings & Discussion Forum to Address Impact of COVID-19
 - Monday, January 4, 2021 3:00 p.m. ET
 - Assertive Community Treatment (ACT) is a multidisciplinary, team-based model that provides intensive community-based and outreach-oriented services to people who experience the most severe and persistent mental illness. The vast majority also have a co-occurring substance use disorder and many experience comorbid medical illnesses as well as homelessness. This is a vulnerable population and their providers—ACT teams—are at elevated risk themselves during the COVID-19 pandemic. These meetings provide an opportunity for ACT teams to connect with one other, share strategies and resources for adapting team practices and communications, and share the most up-to-date resources. In addition, a Virtual Discussion Forum helps organize information, resources, and strategies used across teams. You can participate in the forum as a guest, or sign up as a member.
